

THE TRIAL FILES

30/8/2024 PAKENHAM SYNTHETIC

Race 2 – 5:15PM RACE FOR RULE MAIDEN (1100 METRES)

Five debutantes step out in this maiden, and we think the pick of them is #10 AHHA AHHA. We had her in the black book following two impressive jump outs in April, but she was sent to the paddock before stepping out at the races. She has come back this time in and impressed us again and looks to have improved following that initial preparation. She is a lovely mover, and we like the way she has attacked the line in all her work to date. Importantly, she has trialled on the synthetic surface and trialled very well on it. The draw is a little tricky (10 of 10) but we are backing Jamie Kah to be able to work it out. $3.20 looks a fair price and keen to be on her side here.

#9 ACCESSORIZED and #8 SUGAR COAT have trialled nicely and look the main dangers from the other debutantes. #4 TUGELA FALLS ran okay at this track last time. Looks the likely leader, gets the blinkers off and drops back to 1100 and looks the best chance of the raced brigade.

SELECTION:

#10 AHHA AHHA (WIN)

THE TRIAL FILES

30/8/2024 PAKENHAM SYNTHETIC

Race 3 – 5:45PM EL JANNAH 3YO MAIDEN (1400 METRES)

A field of 12 lines up with 5 debutantes and most of the rest very lightly raced.

We want to be with one at a price here in #9 DHAMALUNA ($16). She steps out on debut and has had a good grounding with several jump outs over a couple of preparations to prepare for her debut. Her most recent jump out was clearly her best (at this track) and showed she is ready to go to the races. She jumped very well and crossed to lead easily on that occasion and was headed turning for home but showed a good turn of foot to come back along the inside and win the heat well. Providing she jumps as she did in her trial, she should be able to find the front or settle handy over the 1400 and we think she can give a sight at a nice price.

The field looks extremely even outside of her with no clear standout on race or trial form.
