

THE TRIAL FILES

05/02/2025 WARWICK FARM

What an interesting meeting. They rang trainers to accept in Race 1 just to get enough numbers to have a race and they all scratch immediately so we're left with three. Crazy. Anyway, there's a winner in every race and we're here to find the winner of Race 4.

Race 4 - 4:40PM PINATUBO FIRST YEARLINGS HANDICAP (1100 METRES)

Solid early tempo expected with RUSSIAN SNITZEL the most likely to lead from a good barrier. WIND OF CHANGE, ANGEL DOWN and JAMAKIN MONEY handy.

Two key fresh horses that we have loved the trials of and we are keen to play. The only reservation is the fact it is an apprentice only race which fills us with trepidation.

#9 EMILIA JANE is a lightly raced mare having her second campaign here in Australia. She won a mares race over 1250m when we last saw her and looks to have improved again over the break, settling in well. Three trials to have her ready here and loved her latest, working between runners and going better than Key Largo on the line to win her Warwick Farm heat nicely. She looks sharp and ready to go and Braith Nock might just be a go-to jockey in this apprentice only race.

The key danger looks to be #7 TO THE EXTREME. This mare burst through, took a gap and sprinted sharply to win her short course trial at Randwick. While she wasn't disgraced in two runs last campaign, both were run on rain affected surfaces and her win came on top of the ground. Key winning chance.

#6 JAMAKIN MONEY won at Dubbo over 1000m last start. Different sport here.

Really backing in the fresh horses on the scene and think the winner comes from #9 EMILIA JANE and #7 TO THE EXTREME

SELECTION:

Primary bet on #9 EMILIA JANE with smaller profit on #7 TO THE EXTREME
(ie. If betting $100, $60 on #9 at $4.40 and $40 on #7 at $4.60)
