Race 7 – 4:00PM KWIK TIP BINS BM58 (1200 METRES)

Speed looks to come from ANTICKS and EXPLOSIVE THINKER from barriers 7 & 8 and ARIZONA ACTIVIST from the inside gate. KIMBERLEY PEARL may settle closer with the blinkers on for the first time.

We have liked what we have seen from #4 ARIZONA ACTIVIST in his two jump outs this time in since being gelded. He has shown pace on both occasions, and we love the way he looks to be moving. On both occasions he has been the strongest horse through the line also which gives us confidence that the 1200m first up shouldn't be an issue. He had some handy form in his previous preparation and from barrier 1 he should be able to lead/settle handy and be very hard to run past.

#1 EXPLOSIVE THINKER has been racing consistently in BM64 grade and can run a good race down in grade here. He does have to carry 62.5kg with the drop in grade and the map looks a little sticky for him. #3 KIMBERLEY PEARL was plain first up in a stronger race but gets the blinkers on for the first time here which is something to watch from the Maher stable. She showed ability in her last preparation and if the blinkers spark some improvement she looks the main danger, but happy to be against her on the back of her fair effort first up.

Outside of the three horses mentioned this looks a very thin race and we would be surprised to see the winner come from outside of them.

SELECTION:
