Race 1 – 12:30PM SHINZO @ COOLMORE 2YO PLATE (1000 METRES)

Dare say this will be one of the better 2yo races we have seen so far this season. 7 debutantes, 2 have raced. Good 4, rail out 3m.

Working down the page, #1 ALBANY ROAD has trialed twice in readiness for this, and both have been good. Uncharacteristically for horses from the Waterhouse/Bott camp he hasn't showed a lot of early speed, but he has closed strongly in both, and we like the way he has just kept finding the line.

Moves well and looks a promising horse.

#3 CHERGUI has trialed twice in Melbourne and both times his work has really impressed us. He has showed gate speed in both efforts, and he looks an effortless, free flowing mover. He is regally bred being a half to Astern, Alizee & Tassort and there is no doubt he has inherited a fair chunk of that talent.

Tricky from the wide draw on debut but we are quite taken by him and have him on top.

#7 PALLATON and #8 QUIETLY ARROGANT both come through the same trial at the Kenso on 9/12. Like the way both went. Pallaton showed speed to lead, travelled nicely and kicked clear with the ears pricked. Quietly Arrogant was slowly away and settled last but made ground quickly straightening. He looks a very nice mover and was certainly impressive. Like the way Pallaton switched back on when Quietly Arrogant ran up to him too. Both nice animals.

#9 SOUTHERN PRINCE's latest trial was nice. Got back in the small field but like the way he stretched out and attacked the line late.

SELECTION:

#3 CHERGUI (win)

Good race and think this will be a race to follow the form out of.

Race 10 – 5:55PM TAB BM78 HANDICAP (1300 METRES)

Will know how the track is playing by this stage of the day so monitor for updates.

Very keen to be with #13 YORKSHIRE to close the card. He was very impressive in his first racing preparation, winning 3 of his 4 starts. Slight query that all 4 runs were on wet ground, and it doesn't appear as if he will find that here, but his trials this prep have been on a G4 and S6 so not concerned. Both trials have been very good. Loved the close under no riding at his first hit out and thought the way he lowered/extended when asked for an effort at the 2nd trial was great. 1300m 1st up suits perfectly and draws suitably in 5. RacingNSW speed maps has him lobbing in the 1/1 from there and no surprise to see him potentially lead. Keen.

#9 ACCREDITED the clear danger. Soft win last time was eased down late. He will press forward from the wide gate and is still lightly raced and on the up.
